Our Supply Chains

We select our suppliers and business partners carefully and, where possible, conduct due diligence on them, so that we are comfortable that we are doing business with trusted partners and known parties who effect business in full compliance with local law and best practice. We encourage all of our suppliers to comply with our policies, often by raising awareness of our policies as part of our procurement tender processes and/or we expect that they will have similar policies in place.

Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland expects all of its suppliers, contractors and service providers to act ethically and with integrity and to have in place effective systems, safeguards and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere in their own business or in their supply chains. Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland operates and maintains preferred supplier lists.

Before any new supplier, contractor or service provider is approved, Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland, carries out appropriate due diligence on the supplier, including requiring the supplier to submit a "Supplier Set Up Form". As part of this process, Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland, carries out an online search to ensure that an organisation has not been convicted of any offences, including, but not limited to, offences relating to modern slavery whether through human trafficking, slavery, child labour or otherwise.

Our suppliers of outsourced employees to our hotels are expected to sign up to and agree to the terms of Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland Anti-Slavery Compliance Agreement in respect of agency workers, where they are required to confirm that they understand and comply with the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

Our Policies on Slavery & Human Trafficking

To help prevent modern slavery or human trafficking in our business and supply chains, we have adopted a Modern Slavery & Human Trafficking Policy. Our Modern Slavery & Human Trafficking Policy reflects our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity, and to implementing effective systems and controls to help ensure slavery and human trafficking is not taking place in our business and supply chains. We will monitor and update this Modern Slavery & Human Trafficking Policy as necessary going forwards.

We operate several internal policies to ensure that we are conducting business in an ethical and transparent manner. These policies include:

- Modern Slavery & Human Trafficking Policy: This policy sets out our commitment to modern slavery prevention, steps for managing risk and explains how employees can identify and report any concerns.
- (Employee) Code of Conduct: The Code of Conduct explains the way we behave as an organisation and details the core values and duties that we expect all stakeholders and employees to adhere to. All employees are responsible for reading, understanding, and complying with the principles as outlined in the Code of Conduct. A full copy of the Code of Conduct is issued to all new employees for signature during either their on-boarding or induction. The Code of Conduct is also covered in the Employee Handbook and can be found on various intra and extranet sites, as well as paper copies being available in the Human Resources department.

- Reporting Concerns: Employees are encouraged and asked to report genuine concerns that they may have over possible violations to the Code of Conduct or any other concerns that they feel are unlawful or unethical. Concerns may be reported to any manager or anonymously through Ethicspoint, our external whistleblowing hotline. Such concerns will be kept confidential by us to the extent that the law permits.
- Recruitment Policy: We have a Recruitment Policy that outlines the processes to follow when recruiting, including conducting Right to Work Checks and a prospective employee's eligibility to work in the UK and Ireland.
- Group Health and Safety Policy: We have a Group Health and Safety policy that sets out how we ensure we fulfil our obligations with all relevant Health and Safety legislation
- Whistleblowing policy: In June 2021 we published our whistleblowing policy which outlines how to raise any concerns and our commitment to confidentiality, safeguards and action as a result of whistleblowing. This has been published both via the employee app "Leapp", in posters in the employee areas of our sites and on our online learning platform.

Due Diligence Processes for Modern Slavery & Human Trafficking

We have assessed the only potential area of material risk associated with modern slavery and human trafficking being within our supply chain, and as part of Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland's commitment to identify and mitigate modern slavery risks, we will continue to build long-standing relationships with our suppliers and make clear our expectations of them and their business behaviour. We primarily address risk by reviewing internal controls and training, and by actively working with our suppliers and issuing Agency Compliance Agreements to all suppliers of our permanent workforce as part of our due diligence process. Our process operates as follows:

- In the first instance, Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland ask that all recruitment agencies of permanent employees sign and agree to the Agency Compliance Agreement. Any new agency that Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland is looking to engage will be requested and expected to sign the Agency Compliance Agreement (if applicable);
- Jurys Inn and Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland currently work with two main outsourcing companies. These companies have signed the Agency Compliance Agreement and audits have been, and will continue to be, carried out at regular intervals;
- As regards our national or international supply chains, our point of contact is preferably with a UK or Irish company or branch. We expect that each of those entities will have suitable anti-slavery and human trafficking policies and processes. We expect each entity in the supply chain to, at the very least, adopt 'one-up' due diligence on the next link in the supply chain. It is not practical for us (and every other participant in the supply chain) to have a direct relationship with all of the links in the supply chain, such as the ultimate producer, manufacturer or service provider. We, nevertheless, consider our approach to be reasonable and proportionate to tackle the risks;

- The tendering of new contracts will include an obligation that suppliers comply with the Modern Slavery Act 2015;
- To ensure an understanding of the potential risks of modern slavery in delivering our services and managing our supply chain, we do, and will continue to, provide training for our employees;
- We have internal systems in place to encourage the reporting of concerns and the protection of those employees via Ethicspoint;
- We operate to high ethical standards; and
- We ensure equal treatment of employees to prevent discrimination.

Training

- To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our business and its supply chains, we continue to provide training for our employees in order that they can identify potential signs of modern slavery, human trafficking or child grooming and sexual exploitation and, if necessary, report them without fear of penalty. Modern Slavery training is part of our 3 month BELONG company induction programme for all employees. The programme is delivered online through our GROW people portal to ensure maximum access for all employees; with a quiz to test understanding along with annual refresher training to ensure ongoing focus on this important topic. Completion is tracked both locally and centrally to ensure compliance. In 2021 we incorporated refresher training modules on both Modern Slavery and Child Sexual Exploitation within our Revive return to work training programme, and into 2022 this remains part of our mandatory training. All employees will be required to complete this training and we will track this through central reporting, with September 2022 as a focus month on both these topics.

Measuring Effectiveness

Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland uses the following measures, amongst others, to monitor and assess how effective we have been as a business at ensuring that modern slavery and human trafficking is not taking place within our business or supply chains:

- Hotel Audits reviewing the appropriateness of existing controls;
- The use of effective labour monitoring procedures and payroll systems;
- An assessment of the level of communication and personal contact with the next link in the supply chain, and to ensure that we have their full understanding and compliance with the Act and our expectations of them in relation to it;
- We have previously completed on-site Modern Slavery audits of a selection of our recruitment suppliers and produced a report detailing our findings and recommendations. All suppliers audited were found to be exercising best practice initiatives in all areas of Modern Slavery compliance and in line with their commitment to our Agency Compliance agreement. We will continue to audit a selection of recruitment suppliers in 2022.

- Audits of our main outsourcing companies have been carried out by our employees, employees of the outsourcing companies and third party auditors. Whilst the opportunity was limited in 2021 due to travel restrictions related to the Covid pandemic, we completed a site visit and employee feedback forum at one of our third party sites. In 2022 we will complete further site visits and audits.

Corporate Responsibility

Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland believe in increased transparency in how businesses are playing their part in preventing slavery and human trafficking. We will continue to monitor the effectiveness of our compliance programme. We will publish an updated Modern Slavery Act Transparency Statement each financial year.

Responsibility for Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland compliance with the Modern Slavery Act lies on an operational basis with our Board of Directors. This statement is issued with the approval and consent of the Board of Directors of Jurys Inn & Leonardo Hotels UK and Ireland (including the four companies referenced in the structure section of this statement) and have duly authorised the below named signatory to sign it on their behalf.
